MARKET SQUARE ARENA

Market Square Arena, opened in 1974, remains one of the premier sports and entertainment showplaces in the midwest. With recent renovations, MSA has enhanced that status. In the last year, new lighting, a new sound system, new seats, an updated video system and new air conditioning will help MSA continue to be an enjoyable place to visit for the many events it hosts.

The building was designed by Kennedy, Brown and Associates and constructed by Huber, Hunt and Nichols, Inc. Groundbreaking ceremonies were conducted Oct. 20, 1971 and the building was officially opened Sept. 15, 1974. The Pacers lost to San Antonio, 129-121, in double overtime in their first appearance in the building, Oct. 18, 1974.

Five nights later, the Pacers had their first victory in MSA, a 122-107 triumph over the Spirits of St. Louis.

Market Square Arena highlights include the 1980 NCAA basketball semifinals and finals; the 1978 and 1979 NCAA basketball Mid-East regionals; NBA's All-Star Saturday in 1985; the annual Indiana state high school basketball and wrestling championships; Elvis Presley's last concert (June 26, 1977); the 1982 National Sports Festival; 1987 Pan American Games basketball competition and the World Gymnastics opening ceremonies.

Aside from its draw for athletic competition that has included ice hockey and tennis, MSA has hosted concerts, circuses, rodeos, ice shows, seminars and banquets. The arena has a seating capacity of 18,125 for concerts and boxing; approximately 16,530 for basketball and 16,000 for hockey. All seats in the circular arena are free from posts and other obstructions of view.

The finest in dining is provided at Market Square Gardens Restaurant, located on the seventh level on the west side of the building.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Herbert Simon is Co-Chairman of the Indianapolis-based real estate development and management company, Simon Property Group (SPG), the largest Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT) in the country.

In addition, he serves as President of Melvin Simon & Associates, Inc., which, until the formation of the REIT in late 1993, was the nation's second-largest developer and manager of shopping centers.

Prior to creating the Simon company with his brothers Melvin and Fred in Indianapolis in 1960, Mr. Simon attended the City College of New York where he earned a B.S. degree in business.

The Simon firm has built a reputation as an industry leader and the company's portfolio consists of nearly 130 shopping centers in 30 states, including the recently completed Circle Centre Mall in Indianapolis, The Forum Shops at Caesars in Las Vegas and the Mall of America in Bloomington, MN.

A firm supporter of professional, environmental and and community groups, Mr. Simon serves on the boards of directors of numerous community and civic organizations.

Mr. Simon, together with his wife, Diane Meyer Simon, has five children.

DONNIE WALSH

The success the Pacers had the last two seasons, highlighted in 1994-95 by the team's first 50-win NBA season and its first-ever title, the Central Division Championship, was something Donnie Walsh had been building toward for years.

Back in April of 1986, Walsh became the team's general manager. His goals were simple: establish a solid franchise and build a world championship team. Accomplishing those goals would be difficult, but Walsh brought a work ethic (he rarely takes a day off) and a basketball background that would help him greatly in trying to achieve them.

When Walsh took over, the Pacers were coming off a 26-52 season and the team had reached the playoffs only once in 10 NBA seasons. Rebuilding the Pacers over the next few years would be a big challenge, particularly since two key players, Clark Kellogg and Steve Stipanovich, would have their careers shortened by knee injuries.

But in spite of the adversity, the Pacers have averaged 41 victories, a season (compared with an average of 25 victories the five previous seasons) and made the playoffs six straight years in Walsh's nine years in the Pacers' front office. Additionally, attendance in Market Square Arena has been the highest in franchise history the last nine seasons, capped by 1994-95 in which the Pacers had a record average of 15,976 that included 24 sellouts.

Walsh, who in 1988 was named president of the Indiana Pacers Corporation (which runs the Pacers and also directs the management of Market Square Arena), received some recognition in 1993-94 as being one of the NBA's top executives after the Pacers finished with a 47-35 record and reached the Eastern Conference Finals. That reputation was enhanced last season with the Pacers' strong regular season showing and another appearance in the Eastern Conference Finals.

Some of the key moves Walsh has made to bring about the Pacers' recent success include the hiring of his old college teammate, Larry Brown, as head coach; a trade before the 1993-94 season that brought Derrick McKey to the Pacers; the signing of free agent Byron Scott; and a trade in 1994 that made Mark Jackson a Pacer. Those ingredients, along with players such as Dream Team II and III member Reggie Miller (a 1995 starter for the Eastern Conference All-Stars), Rik Smits, Dale Davis and Antonio Davis (all players drafted by Walsh), have made the Pacers one of the NBA's top success stories.

It was a fitting reward for Walsh. "I am most happy for the city of Indianapolis and the state of Indiana, which had waited so long for this," said Walsh. "There are a lot of people who have put a lot of time and effort into building this franchise, from the owners to our office staff and I think everyone deserved to enjoy the success we had and savor the tremendous fan support we have received."

Walsh's life has been spent in and around basketball.

An outstanding high school player in New York City, Walsh played at North Carolina under Frank McGuire and Dean Smith. After graduating with a bachelor of arts degree in political science, Walsh attended the North Carolina Law School and helped coach the Tar Heels' freshman team for two seasons.

After graduating from law school and turning down offers from then former vice president Richard Nixon's law firm in New York City and the U.S. Justice Department's Honors programs, he took a graduate coaching position under Smith at North Carolina and then became an associate head coach under McGuire at South Carolina. In 1977, Walsh was about to enter private law practice in South Carolina, but Brown, the head coach of the Denver Nuggets, asked Walsh to join him as an assistant. Walsh stayed with the Nuggets as an assistant coach and head coach before entering private business in 1982.

But in 1984, Walsh was back in basketball as an assistant to George Irvine. He remained on the bench until becoming general manager two years later. He has since been a member of the U.S. Olympic Games Committee for men's basketball for Dream Teams I and II.

Walsh's knowledge, professionalism, accessibility and courtesy are highly-recognized throughout the NBA by players, coaches, front office personnel and the media. He is also a respected member of the Indianapolis community, serving on the boards of many charities.

He and his wife, Judy, both natives of New York, have five children and live in Indianapolis.

DALE RATERMANN

VICE PRESIDENT/ADMINISTRATION

Dale Ratermann is responsible for the administration of business operations for the Indiana Pacers. After six-and-a-half years as the media relations director, he was promoted to vice president of administration in 1992.

On five occasions, Ratermann was awarded the Howie McHugh/Marc Splaver Award, given to the outstanding public relations director in the NBA's Eastern Conference.

Before joining the Pacers staff, Ratermann served as the assistant sports information director at the University of Illinois for seven years. After graduating from Illinois in 1978, he attended graduate school at Arizona State University.

A native of Marion, Ill., Ratermann is single.

BOB METELKO

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Bob Metelko joined the Pacers in November, 1984, as chief financial officer. Responsible for the finances of the Pacers and Market Square Arena, he oversees budgeting, cash management, financial reporting, insurance and employee benefits.

Metelko graduated from the University of Notre Dame in 1967 with a degree in business administration and was drafted by the U.S. Army for a tour in the Finance Corps.

He moved to Houston in 1969 to work as staff auditor for Price Waterhouse, but left there in 1972 to join a small CPA firm in Greenwood, Ind. Metelko became a certified public accountant in 1973 and joined Merchants Bank as assistant controller a year later. He eventually became a vice president and controller before leaving to join the Pacers' front office.

Originally from Lincoln, Ill., Metelko is married (Belinda) and has three children.

He was named an NBA All-Star in the Pacers' first season in the league (1976-77). In that season, he finished as the NBA's second-leading scorer (behind Pete Maravich) with an average 26.6 points per game.

HEAD COACH

LARRY BROWN

Larry Brown enters his third season as coach of the Pacers and there is no question he has had an influence on the team's rise to among the NBA's best.

After being named coach of the Pacers in 1993, he helped them to a 47-35 record and a berth in the Eastern Conference Finals, where the Pacers lost in the final seconds of the seventh game to the New York Knicks. Then last season, the Pacers posted a 52-30 record and again reached the Eastern Conference Finals before falling in the seventh game to Orlando.

But the accomplishments of the 1994-95 season were many for Brown and the Pacers. The final record was the team's best in its 19-year NBA history, the 50-win season was the first in the team's NBA history and the Central Division Championship was the team's first title of any kind in its NBA history. Finally, the .634 winning percentage was the third-highest in the franchise's 28-year history.

Brown, who won his 500th NBA game last season, has compiled a .603 winning percentage (99-65) in his two seasons as coach of the Pacers. That just falls in line with a successful coaching career that has seen Brown's teams post a .500 or better record 21 times in 22 seasons.

It seemed when Brown was hired as coach of the Pacers, that the match would be a good one. He was reunited with his old teammate from the University of North Carolina, Pacers' President Donnie Walsh; he was coaching one of the original franchises from the old American Basketball Association, in which Brown both played and coached; he was coaching in a state that appreciates and loves basketball at all levels; and his past success as a coach seemed to be the impetus for a team hoping to step up to the next level.

In two seasons, the match has proved to be a good one for both the Pacers and Brown, who is now in the top third of coaches in longevity with the same team. The city of Indianapolis and state of Indiana have responded warmly to Brown's Pacer teams.

"I've had a lot of great experiences," Brown said, "but I don't know if I've had any better than this."

Considering Brown's career as a player and coach, that is quite a statement.

As a player, he played on the 1964 gold medal-winning Olympic basketball team for the United States and he was a three-time ABA All-Star. As a coach, he reached the NCAA Final Four three times, winning a national championship with Kansas in 1988. He was also a three-time ABA Coach of the Year and in his career, his 939-575 record represents a strong .620 winning percentage.

Brown attributes his coaching skills to having learned from the best. He cites Frank McGuire and Dean Smith (his coaches at North Carolina) along with Henry Iba and John McClendon (his coaches from the Olympic Team) as being at the forefront. His record is a credit to their influence.

So, it seemed only natural Brown would someday coach in the hotbed of basketball, Indiana. "Being in a state that loves basketball, appreciates basketball and really follows basketball, that's important to me," said Brown, who someday would like to be a high school coach.

His Pacer teams have brought a stamp that has made fans love and appreciate them. The Pacers have become a strong defensive team, last season setting a team record for fewest average points allowed (95.5). The Pacers have also become noted for their hustle and unselfishness, both Brown trademarks.

"Anytime a coach is connected with a team that tries hard every night, gets along and plays up to its potential night-in and night-out, that's what it's all about," said Brown. "We try to play the right way, we try to play unselfishly and I think we compete every night."

Brown and his wife, Shelly, have a son, L.J. Brown, an avid golfer and runner, also has three daughters, Kristen, Alli and Melissa.

GAR HEARD

ASSISTANT COACH

Gar Heard begins his third year as an assistant with the Pacers and his vast NBA experience has been a valuable asset to the Pacers' bench.

In his career, Heard has played for, or worked with, some of the winningest coaches in the league's history, including Jack Ramsay, Dick Motta, Lenny Wilkens, John MacLeod and, of course, Larry Brown. That list makes up half of the top 10 career wins list in professional basketball.

Prior to joining the Pacers, Heard had coached the Dallas Mavericks, replacing Richie Adubato on January 13, 1993. Heard inherited a Mavericks team that had posted just two wins in its first 29 games of the season, but guided Dallas to a 9-44 record the rest of the way.

Heard entered the NBA as the Seattle SuperSonics' third-round draft choice out of Oklahoma in 1970. He played on seven playoff teams in his 11 seasons.

Heard has three children: daughters Kim Taylor and Yaasmeen, and a son, Gyasi.

BILLY KING

ASSISTANT COACH

Billy King, an outstanding defensive player on Duke's highly-ranked teams in the late 1980s, is in his third year as a Pacers' assistant coach.

Before coming to the Pacers, King was an assistant at Illinois State and spent one year as a color analyst for ESPN's basketball coverage of the Ohio Valley Conference.

While King was at Duke, the Blue Devils were 112-27, an average of 28 wins per season. In that time, Duke went to the Final Four twice, won the Atlantic Coast Conference regular-season championship and two ACC tournament titles. At the conclusion of his senior season, King was honored with the Henry Iba Corinthian National Defensive Player of the Year Award.

King currently serves on USA Basketball's senior men's committee which helps select the U.S. Olympic basketball team.

HERB BROWN

ASSISTANT COACH

Herb Brown, a 34-year coaching veteran, is in his first season as a Pacers' assistant coach.

Brown, the brother of Pacers' head coach Larry Brown, has spent the last two seasons as a European scout for the Pacers, and has coached the last six years in Spain. The 59-year-old Brown has vast coaching experience internationally, in the Continental Basketball Association and the NBA, where he has been a head coach for the Detroit Pistons (guiding them to the playoffs in 1976 and 1977) and an assistant coach with Houston and Phoenix.

Brown recently had a book, Basketball's Box Offense, published.

TRAINER

David Craig is in his 26th year as the head trainer for the Indiana Pacers. In that time, he has distinguished himself as one of the best athletic trainers in sports because of his professionalism, knowledge, work ethic, organizational skills and personality.

With all of those things combined, the 47-year-old Craig has given the Pacers a valued employee whom many consider irreplaceable.

Craig's athletic training education began as a junior at West Lafayette High School when he began working under Purdue University's William "Pinky" Newell, widely regarded as the father of modern day athletic training. That schooling continued for Craig as an undergraduate at Purdue and during summers he worked camps for the NFL's Detroit Lions and Minnesota Vikings.

Craig joined the Pacers prior to the 1970-71 season and was part of two American Basketball Association championship teams which he cites as "very important" moments in his career. Craig adds he "looks forward to being part of an NBA championship" team.

During his years with the Pacers, Craig has been justly honored. He was the first president of the Indiana Athletic Trainers Association and in 1993 won the organization's "Professional Clinician/Athletic Trainer of the Year" Award. He has also been chairman of the National Basketball Trainers Association Executive Committee and served as the trainer for the Eastern Conference in the 1985 NBA All-Star game.

Locally, from 1978 to 1993 Craig served as president of Indianapolis Physical Therapy and Sports Medicine, Inc., a business he co-founded and oversaw an expansion of six Indianapolis area clinics.

David has two children, Jennifer and Brian.

MEL DANIELS

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

RINGTHEBELL.TV on Archive.org

Mel Daniels is in his 12th season as part of the Pacers' basketball staff and will, again, provide his keen, no-nonsense approach to basketball talent.

The former two-time ABA MVP (1969, '71) and the ABA's first "Rookie of the Year" (1969) averaged 19.5 points and 15.9 rebounds a contest from 1968 to 1974. He was also the ABA All-Star game MVP in 1971. His No. 34 has been retired by the Pacers.

A native of Detroit, Daniels was an assistant coach at Indiana State from 1978-82 and was part of ISU's 33-1 NCAA championship runner-up team in 1978-79. Former Sycamore star Larry Bird credits Daniels with preparing him for the NBA.

NBA TERMINOLOGY

ACTIVE LIST

The maximum number of active players is 12; the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the off-season and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST

When a player on the Playing Roster is unable, due to injury or illness, to perform his duties, his name may be transferred from the Active List to the Injured List. Any player placed on the Injured List, who is replaced on his team's Active List, must sit out at least five of his team's regular season games before he may be restored to the Active List. No more than three players may be on a team's Injured List at any one time.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the Injured List. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day contracts with the same team.

TRADING DEADLINE

No trades are permitted after 9 p.m. (EST) on the 16th Thursday of the regular season (that's Feb. 22 this season). From that point until the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure or by signing free agents.

WAIVERS

From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no team claims the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one team claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player. The cost for a waived player is $1,000, payable to the league.

GUARANTEED CONTRACTS

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high school class has graduated and is at least 17 years old shall become eligible for the College Draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility remaining. Teams may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

SALARY CAP

The salary cap for the 1995-96 season is $23 million per team.

NBA COMMUNITY RELATIONS PROGRAMS

The NBA, its teams, players and coaches share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their communities. On the national and local levels, the NBA and its 29 teams are involved in many public service initiatives.

One of the Pacers' many community relations initiatives is "A Landmark for Peace." A project of the Pacers foundation, Inc., the unveiling of this special monument took place Sept. 30, 1995. It symbolizes a strong commitment against violence in our community and will embody the message of anti-violence and the meaning of the lives of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Sen. Robert Kennedy. The design, by Indianapolis area artist Greg Perry, incorporates material obtained from guns collected through an Indianapolis gun amnesty program sponsored by the city, the prosecutor's office and the Indiana Pacers.

The monument will stand in Martin Luther King, Jr., Memorial Park, near the site where Robert Kennedy broke the news of King's assassination to a stunned group of supporters on April 4, 1968.

The Pacers, through the "Landmark" monument and other civic programs such as last year's successful "Word From the Court" program (a non-violence initiative featuring Pacers players) are working to fulfill the dreams of peace shared by Dr. King and Sen. Kennedy.

The Pacers are active in numerous other areas as well. They are active participants in the NBA's successful "Stay In School" program and have been part of a cooperative venture with Community Leaders Allied for Superior Schools (CLASS). "Making the Grade" is a program designed to help students stay in school.

Another successful venture the Pacers have been a part of is the popular "Don't Foul Out" program. "Don't Foul Out" has proudly been a part of the Pacers Basketball Corporation 's community efforts since 1986. Current and former players, coaches, Boomer and the Pacemates make many personal appearances to deliver the "Just Say No To Drugs" message to students statewide.

From this program also comes a thanks to the many businesses who have donated tickets to the annual "Don't Foul Out" night.

These programs are just part of the Pacers' and NBA's continued awareness in community relations. Along with "Stay In School," the league's main projects include Martin Luther King, Jr. Federal Holiday Commission Black History Month; Special Olympics; CARE; the National Committee to Prevent Child Abuse; and the Healthy Families America.

Landmark for Peace Dedication 9/30/95.

THE HOW AND WHY OF THE "PACERS"

When professional basketball came to Indianapolis in 1967, one of the key decisions would be what to call the new American Basketball Association franchise.

According to Indianapolis attorney, Richard D. Tinkham, the nickname "Pacers" was decided on through a collective decision of the original investors. Tinkham, one of those investors, recalled that the nickname was a combination of the state's rich history with the harness racing pacers (investor Chuck Barnes was a horse racing enthusiast) and the pace car used for the running of the Indianapolis 500.

Tinkham said the "Pacers" decision was an easy one, but the real debate was whether the team should be called the Indiana Pacers or the Indianapolis Pacers. Since one of the original ideas for the team was to have it playing throughout the state with its base in Indianapolis, the official team name became the Indiana Pacers.
